

Site diagrams

The basis structure of your website is essential for all further sales optimization.

It should be built with a basis in a breakdown of the website features and prioritizing of content and information in relation to the target groups.

Get an overview of data flows and the navigation
- and have your website developed from templates to minimize the expenses for the design and development.

What you get:

Definition of:

- Navigation on the website
- Products and services on the website
- Number of templates on the website
- Number of pages on the website
- Dataflow on the website (auto e-mails, forms, etc.)
- Design of all the agreed site diagrams

Your advantages:

- Get the right navigation defined - in relation to your business
- Get the website divided in the necessary areas to increase sales
- Create overview of the website templates, the content and data flows
- Save time and money by starting with the right structure and design
- Drive more sales from the right information in relation to your target group

Contact Inflow and find out more.